

Proudly offers the GENERIC ELECTRIC

Ready to join the Hobby!?!

Want a great locomotive for the gandydancing crew?

Want something that'll fit in your auto's trunk!?!

Wondering how to get Junior more involved?

Plum Cove Studios has the answer!

Introducing the latest addition to the Plum Cove Studios lineup... the Generic Electric Boxcab!

- 7.25" or 7.50" gauge
- able to haul loaded 4-6 car train
- powered by two 12volt deep cycle batteries (not included) available everywhere
- 24volt controller is pre-wired and axle-hung motors are incredibly powerful
- infinitely variable controller features regenerative braking (recharges batteries when slowing), also does an excellent job keeping train stopped.
- handheld controller is sprung loaded to center, works as "deadman" switch
- 12"w x 24"l x 19"h. Frame 65 pounds, Body 8 pounds, batteries 45 pounds each.
- Fits in almost any car trunk.
- MU'able with other Generic Electrics (available spring '07)

The Kit $1699 (batteries not included)

Running Gear Only $1399

Build it yourself, with the soon to be legendary kit that comes complete with everything: wheels and axles machined with motors and gears already assembled, and absolutely every item you need to assemble your own Generic Electric. All holes have been drilled and deburred. Everything lines up. Everything is square. It's a snap to assemble. And quick. You'll marvel at how well constructed your new locomotive is.
